Product Description

Quite clever, because it is the 45° angle that makes the small but subtle difference: the uniquely practical handling on the finely grained acacia wood handle makes cutting pizza or tarte flambée much easier for the assembled team at the table. With the usual Italian nonchalance, the rolling knife cuts even the thickest crusts into bite-sized pieces. Even when not in use, SIGNORA, whose cutting edge is inevitably reminiscent of a lady with a sweeping hat, cuts a pretty good figure on the kitchen counter. We think that's twice as sharp.
